

A Note for Teachers

Thank you for helping Biskit share his story!

Dear Teacher,

Grant is excited to share a children's book our family created called Biskit and the Bread Bonanza. It is inspired by our real duck, Biskit, and the story teaches kids that bread is not good for ducks and that there are healthier snacks like peas, corn, oats, and seeds.

We thought it might work as a fun classroom read-aloud with a simple lesson about kindness, animal care, and taking care of ponds. Included in this packet are optional activities you can use if helpful:

- Biskit's Duck Snack Guide
- What Should Ducks Eat? worksheet
- Color with Biskit! coloring page
- Discussion questions

No pressure at all - Grant was just proud and wanted to share it with his class. We hope Biskit's story brings a smile and maybe inspires a few young pond protectors.

Thank you for all you do for your students.

Sincerely,
Cap (aka Dad) & Funcle Lieu
Grant's family

Kind kids. Healthy ducks. Brighter days.
